

St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

VOL XXXII.

ST. LOUIS, SATURDAY, AUGUST 16, 1884.—TWELVE PAGES.

NO. 345.

1884.

THE FIRST ANNUAL EXHIBITION OF THE ST. LOUIS EXPOSITION AND MUSIC HALL ASSOC'N

WILL OPEN

Wednesday, Sept. 3, at 8 P. M.
AND CLOSE

Saturday, October 18, at 11 P. M.

A Representative Display of all that is new, novel and attractive in Art, Science and Industry.

On the opening night will take place, in connection with the Exposition, the Magnificent Trades' Display Pageant, which will be given on a scale of Unprecedented Grandeur.

SPECIAL RATES ON ALL RAILROAD AND STEAMBOAT LINES.
FOR PARTICULARS SEE POSTERS.

ADMISSION: Adults, 25c; Children, 15c.

SAM. M. KENNARD, Pres't. J. H. JOHNSTON, Supt. and Acting Sec'y.

STEAM

The Only Perfect Washing Machine Made.

Enthusiastically indorsed by Twenty Thousand users.
A great saver of LABOR, TIME and CLOTHES.

RETAIL PRICE $10.

Liberal discount to dealers. Agents wanted throughout the United States. For terms and circulars address,

JOHNSTON BROS.,
Office and Factory 300 N. Main,
ST. LOUIS, MO

FACTS FOR THE PEOPLE!

1st. The MISSOURI STEAM WASHER at Ten Dollars each to the user is the best value offered in America for the money.

2d. The MISSOURI STEAM WASHER is to-day the best selling article in America, consequently shrewd business men of the United States are handling it.

FOR SALE BY

SIMMONS HARDWARE CO.
ST. LOUIS, MO.

NEW STYLES ARE IN

AND PRICES LOWER THAN EVER.

NO DESIRABLE NOVELTY BUT WE HAVE IT.

NO ATTRACTIVE STYLE BUT WE EXHIBIT IT.

NO SPECIALLY FINE COVERING, BUT WE SHOW IT.

IN FACT, FOR ANYTHING IN THE FURNITURE LINE

WE ARE EMPHASITICALLY HEADQUARTERS FOR IT.

SIX FLOORS, TWO ELEVATORS, BEST LIGHT.

SCARRITT
FURNITURE CO.

609, 611, 613 North Fourth St.

LATEST EDITION

TWELVE PAGES.

THREE OF A KIND.

Lockwood, Anthony and Stanton
Quarreling Over a Man.

Bela Wants the Women to Support St. John for the Presidency, While Elizabeth and Susan are Hurrahing for Blaine—The Ladies' Portraits.

Special Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, August 14.—There is war among the women suffragists and all over "a man." Mrs. Belva Lockwood, Washington's female lawyer, has rebelled against the political leadership of Susan B. Anthony and Elizabeth Cady Stanton. "I have just written," she said to the Post-Dispatch correspondent, "to the editors of all the leading women suffrage papers in the country, saying to them that I think it is a wise thing as far as the cause of our sex, we use our influence in behalf of men and parties who will support our cause. Miss Anthony and Mrs. Stanton have come out for Blaine and the Republican ticket. Of course, that is their privilege if they see fit. I have always been a Republican but I can not see any advantage in standing by the party that does not stand by us. The Republicans have done practically nothing for us. Of course, the Democrats have done less, if that is possible, but as there is a woman suffrage and temperance candidate, it seems to me that we ought to support him. I have, therefore, written to the editors of our leading papers, urging them to support the temperance nominee, Mr. St. John.

BELVA A. LOCKWOOD.

She was sitting in her lawyer's office on T-street, surrounded by a corps of female clerks, as she said this. Before her was a desk strewn with papers, presents and packages, which even in the most lawless lawyer's office in Washington could boast. Just opposite her desk sat a pretty lady, with short, curling hair, who was talking to her. The two women had seemed quite as well posted in regard to the "cause" of which Mrs. Lockwood spoke enthusiastically, as did that lady herself. "I can see no reason why we cannot get all the skirts of the skirt of the Republican party any longer. It has done nothing for us. Last winter I saw its leading men, while it was still in the doldrums, tell the women of Utah—to take from them the right of suffrage which they now have. Some of them did not care having a manominated ticket vote for suffrage whenever an opportunity offered. More than that, I attended the Republican Convention at Chicago and drew the resolution regarding which was introduced there. I saw it introduced and received with nothing but derision.

"When you supporters of the cause of universal suffrage express your opinions to members of Congress, Mrs. Lockwood?"

"I don't know if we have a right to expect any thing when we are with a smile. "We can expect nothing, I suppose, from the House, which showed itself last winter so strongly opposed to our cause. What we have to do is to find some other cause to present. We are steadily gaining ground. We have now, I contend, the right to hold office. While the condition does not permit us to vote, there is nothing which prevents a woman from holding any office if elected to that position. As to the coming session of Congress and what it is likely to do, I don't know. I am not in a position to predict anything we may be happily disappointed."

"For instance," and she took up a bundle of papers before her, "here is something to show how hardly we were disappointed in last session. When I speak I speak professionally as an attorney, but of the thirty or

mid of late years and for brief periods.

She has many earnest admirers. Her portrait adorns the office of the National Woman Suffrage Association and is also to be found in the homes of many of national prominence.

"You are successful as a lawyer, but of the thirty or

mid of late years and for brief periods.

She has many earnest admirers. Her portrait adorns the office of the National Woman Suffrage Association and is also to be found in the homes of many of national prominence.

"You are successful as a lawyer, but of the thirty or

mid of late years and for brief periods.

She has many earnest admirers. Her portrait adorns the office of the National Woman Suffrage Association and is also to be found in the homes of many of national prominence.

"You are successful as a lawyer, but of the thirty or

mid of late years and for brief periods.

She has many earnest admirers. Her portrait adorns the office of the National Woman Suffrage Association and is also to be found in the homes of many of national prominence.

"You are successful as a lawyer, but of the thirty or

mid of late years and for brief periods.

She has many earnest admirers. Her portrait adorns the office of the National Woman Suffrage Association and is also to be found in the homes of many of national prominence.

"You are successful as a lawyer, but of the thirty or

mid of late years and for brief periods.

She has many earnest admirers. Her portrait adorns the office of the National Woman Suffrage Association and is also to be found in the homes of many of national prominence.

"You are successful as a lawyer, but of the thirty or

mid of late years and for brief periods.

She has many earnest admirers. Her portrait adorns the office of the National Woman Suffrage Association and is also to be found in the homes of many of national prominence.

"You are successful as a lawyer, but of the thirty or

mid of late years and for brief periods.

She has many earnest admirers. Her portrait adorns the office of the National Woman Suffrage Association and is also to be found in the homes of many of national prominence.

"You are successful as a lawyer, but of the thirty or

mid of late years and for brief periods.

She has many earnest admirers. Her portrait adorns the office of the National Woman Suffrage Association and is also to be found in the homes of many of national prominence.

"You are successful as a lawyer, but of the thirty or

mid of late years and for brief periods.

She has many earnest admirers. Her portrait adorns the office of the National Woman Suffrage Association and is also to be found in the homes of many of national prominence.

"You are successful as a lawyer, but of the thirty or

mid of late years and for brief periods.

She has many earnest admirers. Her portrait adorns the office of the National Woman Suffrage Association and is also to be found in the homes of many of national prominence.

"You are successful as a lawyer, but of the thirty or

mid of late years and for brief periods.

She has many earnest admirers. Her portrait adorns the office of the National Woman Suffrage Association and is also to be found in the homes of many of national prominence.

"You are successful as a lawyer, but of the thirty or

mid of late years and for brief periods.

She has many earnest admirers. Her portrait adorns the office of the National Woman Suffrage Association and is also to be found in the homes of many of national prominence.

"You are successful as a lawyer, but of the thirty or

mid of late years and for brief periods.

She has many earnest admirers. Her portrait adorns the office of the National Woman Suffrage Association and is also to be found in the homes of many of national prominence.

"You are successful as a lawyer, but of the thirty or

mid of late years and for brief periods.

She has many earnest admirers. Her portrait adorns the office of the National Woman Suffrage Association and is also to be found in the homes of many of national prominence.

"You are successful as a lawyer, but of the thirty or

mid of late years and for brief periods.

She has many earnest admirers. Her portrait adorns the office of the National Woman Suffrage Association and is also to be found in the homes of many of national prominence.

"You are successful as a lawyer, but of the thirty or

mid of late years and for brief periods.

She has many earnest admirers. Her portrait adorns the office of the National Woman Suffrage Association and is also to be found in the homes of many of national prominence.

"You are successful as a lawyer, but of the thirty or

mid of late years and for brief periods.

She has many earnest admirers. Her portrait adorns the office of the National Woman Suffrage Association and is also to be found in the homes of many of national prominence.

"You are successful as a lawyer, but of the thirty or

mid of late years and for brief periods.

She has many earnest admirers. Her portrait adorns the office of the National Woman Suffrage Association and is also to be found in the homes of many of national prominence.

"You are successful as a lawyer, but of the thirty or

mid of late years and for brief periods.

She has many earnest admirers. Her portrait adorns the office of the National Woman Suffrage Association and is also to be found in the homes of many of national prominence.

"You are successful as a lawyer, but of the thirty or

mid of late years and for brief periods.

She has many earnest admirers. Her portrait adorns the office of the National Woman Suffrage Association and is also to be found in the homes of many of national prominence.

"You are successful as a lawyer, but of the thirty or

mid of late years and for brief periods.

She has many earnest admirers. Her portrait adorns the office of the National Woman Suffrage Association and is also to be found in the homes of many of national prominence.

"You are successful as a lawyer, but of the thirty or

mid of late years and for brief periods.

She has many earnest admirers. Her portrait adorns the office of the National Woman Suffrage Association and is also to be found in the homes of many of national prominence.

"You are successful as a lawyer, but of the thirty or

mid of late years and for brief periods.

She has many earnest admirers. Her portrait adorns the office of the National Woman Suffrage Association and is also to be found in the homes of many of national prominence.

"You are successful as a lawyer, but of the thirty or

mid of late years and for brief periods.

She has many earnest admirers. Her portrait adorns the office of the National Woman Suffrage Association and is also to be found in the homes of many of national prominence.

"You are successful as a lawyer, but of the thirty or

mid of late years and for brief periods.

She has many earnest admirers. Her portrait adorns the office of the National Woman Suffrage Association and is also to be found in the homes of many of national prominence.

"You are successful as a lawyer, but of the thirty or

mid of late years and for brief periods.

She has many earnest admirers. Her portrait adorns the office of the National Woman Suffrage Association and is also to be found in the homes of many of national prominence.

"You are successful as a lawyer, but of the thirty or

mid of late years and for brief periods.

She has many earnest admirers. Her portrait adorns the office of the National Woman Suffrage Association and is also to be found in the homes of many of national prominence.

"You are successful as a lawyer, but of the thirty or

mid of late years and for brief periods.

She has many earnest admirers. Her portrait adorns the office of the National Woman Suffrage Association and is also to be found in the homes of many of national prominence.

"You are successful as a lawyer, but of the thirty or

mid of late years and for brief periods.

She has many earnest admirers. Her portrait adorns the office of the National Woman Suffrage Association and is also to be found in the homes of many of national prominence.

"You are successful as a lawyer, but of the thirty or

mid of late years and for brief periods.

She has many earnest admirers. Her portrait adorns the office of the National Woman Suffrage Association and is also to to talk before the investigation began then they had a great deal to say, but when they were put on the stand it was found that in regard to this Greely business. What do we know? We did not see these men eaten. The survivors have never acknowledged they did. We have only our opinions, and what are they worth? If I was placed before a military tribunal I should be very circumspect in what I said."

Superintendent Boyce of the Cypress Hill Cemetery said he would not permit the body of Henry to be exhumed without an order from Governor's Island. Coroner Robinson of Long Island City has written Henry's sister in Arkansas asking leave to disinter the remains. Until an answer comes no steps will be taken in that direction.

The prediction in the WORLD of yesterday that there was a mutiny of the fatal Cape Sabine, on the north sea, was almost verified yesterday by interviews with seamen. "I saw the tracks in the snow around the fort by the seashore," said a sailor, "and I know at the time that the road to the ridge burying ground was not beaten away near as hard as the other ones. I told this to an officer. He said that mattered nothing and that they had evidently nothing to do with it. I told him they had filled the little fort, and then built a new grave-yard. This would have satisfied me, but there were certain facts in connection with the fort which gave me the impression that it had been

MORE OF A BANQUET HALL.
than a grave-yard. For instance, when I looked at the blocks of ice which the sea had left in its fury, I saw pieces of bone frozen on them, and pieces of flesh which looked like bits of leather across the block of ice. I remarked this to some of the men, and they said that without question what I had seen were pieces of shoe leather which the men had discarded and which had become frozen in the ice. This assertion was all right, but I tell you the truth, I never saw pieces of shoe leather with joints and other parts which resembled more the calves of man's legs than the soles of one's boots."

"When did the men first take to cannibalism?" was asked, and the sailor said:

"I think just when we were sailing from New York. Just when all you people were firing a canon and wishing us luck. Well, that's about the time these people were beginning to think that they had better make a division of the living men. 'The weak were sacrificed for the benefit of the strong.' Every one of the sailors spoken to was unanimous in his opinion that the Greely party had done only what other men would have done under similar circumstances.

HANLON DEFEATED.

Beach, the Australian Oarsman, Beats the Champion Seven Lengths.

LONDON, August 16.—A dispatch from Sidney, New South Wales, reports that a sculling match between Hanlon and Beach, for the championship of the world and £300 a side, took place to-day on Parramatta River. Beach won by seven lengths.

LOCAL VIEW OF HANLON'S DEFEAT.

In St. Louis the news of Hanlon's severe defeat created much surprise at first and then the universal comment of boating men was: "There must have been something the matter." He was sick or had a disagreeable dream knowing the course; there was something wrong." As for Beach, he had not been more than an ordinary notable figure in racing circles in the antipodes. About four years ago he came into prominence by beating Michael Bush, at that time one of the best men in Australia; since then he has been rowing matches constantly on the Parramatta River and elsewhere, and has been repeatedly beaten by Trickett and also by Laycock. He has beaten Trickett in one race. He has not been regarded in any wise as a phenomenon, and further particulars will be awaited with interest.

JEFFERSON CITY.

An Andrew County Convict Pardoned—New Corporation—Circuit Court.

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Aug. 16.—The Charlesville Cider and Vinegar Company filed articles of incorporation to-day. Capital, twenty thousand dollars. Governor Crittenden pardoned Bates Talbot, who was convicted of sodomy at the December, 1882 term of the Andrew County Circuit Court, and sentenced to the county two years. His associates in these crimes, Ed Shuey, also colored, is to be tried.

A Democratic Rally.

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch.

SHELDYVILLE, Ill., Aug. 16.—The citizens of Tower Hill with whom an old-time Democratic rally this evening. Hon. William M. Wright and Trustee E. A. of this city, will be the speakers of the occasion, and the enthusiastic workers of the grand old party will "wake the echoes" in their determination to denounce corruption and proclaim the truth.

Sick Swine.

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch.

SHELDYVILLE, Aug. 16.—An unknown disease is making sad ravages among the hogs in the southern part of the state. They have lost nearly all their swine and the disease is spreading in every direction. Farmers raising large numbers of hogs are almost in despair.

A Mail-Rider Robbed.

General Education received a letter to-day from James J. Walsh, postmaster at Doaksville, I. T., informing him that Silas McFarland, the mail-rider between that point and Tuscaloosa, was shot at three times, compelled to stand and robbed of $45 and his coat and horse last Friday evening. The robbers did not molest the mail.

Greely Banquet.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—The American Yacht Club banqueted the officers of the Greely Relief Squadron at Delmonico's last night. A hundred covers were laid. President Arthur, Governor Cleveland and Lieutenant Greely sent their respects.

New York Bank Statement.

NEW YORK, August 16.—The New York stock market is following low. Losses, decrease, $1,000,000; increase, $900,000; legal tenders, increase, $50,000; deposits, increase, $500,000; circulation, decrease, $45,000; reserve, increase, $1,300,700. The banks now hold $32,489,000 in excess of legal requirements.

Both After the Same Woman.

SELMA, Ala., Aug. 16.—In a跑到的 house, Vorches County was shot fatally Charles Borchart, who was arrested. The trouble was caused by jealousy, both seeking the same woman.

The First Bale of Cotton.

SELMA, Ala., Aug. 16.—The first of the new crop of cotton was received to-day from Brown's Station this country. It was sold at auction for 12 cents a pound. It is nine days behind the first bale last year.

Philosophical Topics.

CHAUTAUQUA, Aug. 16.—Rev. Herrick Johnson of Chicago lectured this morning on philosophical topics in the pulpit. A temperance address was delivered by Frances E. Willard.

Illinois Burning Grass.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 16.—Roving Chevesses are burning the grass in the Powder River Valley. The damage is heavy. The stock men are preparing to resist them.

Gold from Europe.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Five hundred thousand dollars of British gold bars and $100,000 of American gold coins arrived from Europe to-day.

WIDE OPEN.

Thirty-Two Lottery Offices Running in the City,

While the Police Claim There are no Lottery Shops.

The Post-Dispatch Finds Out What the Police Cannot or Will Not.

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

The Post-Dispatch Finds Out What the Police Cannot or Will Not.

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

False Reports by the Police and Reprobable Leniency on the Part of Judge Noonan and the Representatives of "Influence" Responsible for the Situation—What Will Chief Harrigan Do About It?

&lt;h

A FATAL PISTOL.

Rush Tevis Turns the Same Weapon on Himself

That He Used Two Years Ago on Frank Igelhart—A Suicide and Attempted Murder—Mrs. Tevis' Story—Why Her Husband Was Tired of Life.

Rush H. Tevis is lying dead at 2834 St. Louis avenue, shot by his own hand. The house consists of two flats, and it is in the lower of these that the deceased awaits the verdict of suicide, which the coroner will render, and the burial certificate, which will permit him to be buried away out of sight in the ground.

Two or three policemen, several curiosity-bitten neighbors and a couple of reporters accompanied the coroner into the rooming-garaging entry by the back door and passing through the hall to the room where the fatal shot was fired into the parlor where Tevis was.

This bed-room bears everywhere the evidence of the dainty touch of an art-loving woman. The furniture is of ash; the walls covered with pictures some of them very fine; others cheap and chintz, the whole effect is pleasing. Right over the mantel is a caravans portrait of the dead man, on the right a chair, however, a sodden three-legged stool, blood, water and mud splashed to the roots of the policeman and sticky, so that it records in mud every step that passes it. In the parlor was a statue with some name on it, and a picture of a woman in the closed window. The shutters were drawn open, the sheet pulled back, and the corpse displayed. Almost everybody had the skin.

TEVIS. He was a fine looking dark brunet, with side whiskers, and a striking attractive face. A couple of lines of his hair were still on his head, and the chin resting on a brass screw which closes the under jaw to the upper, while the head itself is held in a death-like grip. The body was in a small gallery. The toilet of the dead had been made, and there was nothing gaudy about the dress but pale, and the medical and chemical examinations were for the preservation and decency. The face had a tired, worn look, and was sad beyond any expression that type could convey.

After this grisly object had been viewed by all, the Deputy Coroner ordered that be brought in. In a nervous, girlish looking form appeared at the doorway, and entered slowly, drawing at her skirts and hurriedly stepping to one side. Mrs. Tevis was dressed in a white muslin gown, and was standing beside her husband. She shuddered as she looked and turned away while she was being sworn in. While he lay here she went into the bedroom and sat in a great wicker chair while the coroner began his interrogatory. She did not speak at all, but when he asked her questions, rather than sit, she was tired and bowed with it all. Her adventures in the past will warrant a closer description of her past. She was a rich Titian, a light-brown shot with red. Her face is good, but rather weak, a pouting mouth with a slight smile, which was weak and dissatisfactory. She was dressed carefully enough about the throat with a neat collar and pin, a black Jenny and a white lace cuff. Her shirt and corset are attractive looking with a Mobile expressive face and a perfect form, no woman could help seeing so. Her eyes are her worst feature, they are shadow and insidious.

MRS. TEVIS

As stated

SHE ANSWERED WITH HER EYES.

and gave her answers directly and clearly to all the questions asked by the coroner. "My name is Kate Tevis," said she, "the deceased is my husband; he went away yesterday, I do not know in good spirit, and did not come home till 9 o'clock in the evening, when he was very much excited and exceedingly drunk, so much so, that he had a god's eye who does not see me. I have not seen him since. Three days he has been drinking a great deal. All that he said was that he was sorry to come home in that condition. I am thinking, and I am afraid, that he has done something. Then he came back into the bed-room and began talking about his business, which he said was in a very unsatisfactory condition. I am afraid he has lost his money. I am afraid, because we had discussed his pecuniary condition often, and I didn't see that there was anything left to him. I think the best way is to get out of all that trouble is just to kill myself. I think we had all better die."

"Did you think he meant by that?"

"I did. He pointed the pistol at me, but did not pull the trigger. I ran away and over into the next house, and called Mrs. Hildreth, and just as I did not hear the shot fired in the bed-room, I ran out again. I was alone, and I was in bed in the bed-room at this time. I didn't go back into the room until this morning; they brought my little girl to me. I stayed in the next house, Mrs. Hildreth."

This is the story of what, says, "true."

told easily and in a conversational tone. Occasionally she would lean her head down on her hand, and when the coroner was not looking at her she would smile. She started, however, at last,

"Did he give you any reason to believe that he was jealous?"

"No, sir. You are sure that jealousy was not the cause of his act?"

"I am certain of it; certain. He would be alive to-day if he had not been under the influence of liquor when he came home last night."

Tevis had been at school, his examination was concluded, the next day, and he was examined by Mr. Cleveland, the superintendent of the Cass Avenue Street Car Line. Several witnesses were examined, and he was found to be a man of good character, but the coroner said:

"The theory that Tevis killed himself while intoxicated is the gross."

which has been generally accepted since the Tevis affair on Sington street, when Frank Igelhart was shot by Rush Tevis, immediately after that gentleman had come out of a house of assignation. Tevis had a stroke of bad luck, however, in that he was to-day going again in full force, and the next morning he was given as the result of his fall, and he died on the way to the hospital.

Tevis had been at school, his examination was concluded, the next day, and he was examined by Mr. Cleveland, the superintendent of the Cass Avenue Street Car Line. Several witnesses were examined, and he was found to be a man of good character, but the coroner said:

"The theory that Tevis killed himself while intoxicated is the gross."

which has been generally accepted since the Tevis affair on Sington street, when Frank Igelhart was shot by Rush Tevis, immediately after that gentleman had come out of a house of assignation. Tevis had a stroke of bad luck, however, in that he was to-day going again in full force, and the next morning he was given as the result of his fall, and he died on the way to the hospital.

Tevis had been at school, his examination was concluded, the next day, and he was examined by Mr. Cleveland, the superintendent of the Cass Avenue Street Car Line. Several witnesses were examined, and he was found to be a man of good character, but the coroner said:

"The theory that Tevis killed himself while intoxicated is the gross."

which has been generally accepted since the Tevis affair on Sington street, when Frank Igelhart was shot by Rush Tevis, immediately after that gentleman had come out of a house of assignation. Tevis had a stroke of bad luck, however, in that he was to-day going again in full force, and the next morning he was given as the result of his fall, and he died on the way to the hospital.

Tevis had been at school, his examination was concluded, the next day, and he was examined by Mr. Cleveland, the superintendent of the Cass Avenue Street Car Line. Several witnesses were examined, and he was found to be a man of good character, but the coroner said:

"The theory that Tevis killed himself while intoxicated is the gross."

which has been generally accepted since the Tevis affair on Sington street, when Frank Igelhart was shot by Rush Tevis, immediately after that gentleman had come out of a house of assignation. Tevis had a stroke of bad luck, however, in that he was to-day going again in full force, and the next morning he was given as the result of his fall, and he died on the way to the hospital.

Tevis had been at school, his examination was concluded, the next day, and he was examined by Mr. Cleveland, the superintendent of the Cass Avenue Street Car Line. Several witnesses were examined, and he was found to be a man of good character, but the coroner said:

"The theory that Tevis killed himself while intoxicated is the gross."

which has been generally accepted since the Tevis affair on Sington street, when Frank Igelhart was shot by Rush Tevis, immediately after that gentleman had come out of a house of assignation. Tevis had a stroke of bad luck, however, in that he was to-day going again in full force, and the next morning he was given as the result of his fall, and he died on the way to the hospital.

Tevis had been at school, his examination was concluded, the next day, and he was examined by Mr. Cleveland, the superintendent of the Cass Avenue Street Car Line. Several witnesses were examined, and he was found to be a man of good character, but the coroner said:

"The theory that Tevis killed himself while intoxicated is the gross."

which has been generally accepted since the Tevis affair on Sington street, when Frank Igelhart was shot by Rush Tevis, immediately after that gentleman had come out of a house of assignation. Tevis had a stroke of bad luck, however, in that he was to-day going again in full force, and the next morning he was given as the result of his fall, and he died on the way to the hospital.

Tevis had been at school, his examination was concluded, the next day, and he was examined by Mr. Cleveland, the superintendent of the Cass Avenue Street Car Line. Several witnesses were examined, and he was found to be a man of good character, but the coroner said:

"The theory that Tevis killed himself while intoxicated is the gross."

which has been generally accepted since the Tevis affair on Sington street, when Frank Igelhart was shot by Rush Tevis, immediately after that gentleman had come out of a house of assignation. Tevis had a stroke of bad luck, however, in that he was to-day going again in full force, and the next morning he was given as the result of his fall, and he died on the way to the hospital.

Tevis had been at school, his examination was concluded, the next day, and he was examined by Mr. Cleveland, the superintendent of the Cass Avenue Street Car Line. Several witnesses were examined, and he was found to be a man of good character, but the coroner said:

"The theory that Tevis killed himself while intoxicated is the gross."

which has been generally accepted since the Tevis affair on Sington street, when Frank Igelhart was shot by Rush Tevis, immediately after that gentleman had come out of a house of assignation. Tevis had a stroke of bad luck, however, in that he was to-day going again in full force, and the next morning he was given as the result of his fall, and he died on the way to the hospital.

Tevis had been at school, his examination was concluded, the next day, and he was examined by Mr. Cleveland, the superintendent of the Cass Avenue Street Car Line. Several witnesses were examined, and he was found to be a man of good character, but the coroner said:

"The theory that Tevis killed himself while intoxicated is the gross."

which has been generally accepted since the Tevis affair on Sington street, when Frank Igelhart was shot by Rush Tevis, immediately after that gentleman had come out of a house of assignation. Tevis had a stroke of bad luck, however, in that he was to-day going again in full force, and the next morning he was given as the result of his fall, and he died on the way to the hospital.

Tevis had been at school, his examination was concluded, the next day, and he was examined by Mr. Cleveland, the superintendent of the Cass Avenue Street Car Line. Several witnesses were examined, and he was found to be a man of good character, but the coroner said:

"The theory that Tevis killed himself while intoxicated is the gross."

which has been generally accepted since the Tevis affair on Sington street, when Frank Igelhart was shot by Rush Tevis, immediately after that gentleman had come out of a house of assignation. Tevis had a stroke of bad luck, however, in that he was to-day going again in full force, and the next morning he was given as the result of his fall, and he died on the way to the hospital.

Tevis had been at school, his examination was concluded, the next day, and he was examined by Mr. Cleveland, the superintendent of the Cass Avenue Street Car Line. Several witnesses were examined, and he was found to be a man of good character, but the coroner said:

"The theory that Tevis killed himself while intoxicated is the gross."

which has been generally accepted since the Tevis affair on Sington street, when Frank Igelhart was shot by Rush Tevis, immediately after that gentleman had come out of a house of assignation. Tevis had a stroke of bad luck, however, in that he was to-day going again in full force, and the next morning he was given as the result of his fall, and he died on the way to the hospital.

Tevis had been at school, his examination was concluded, the next day, and he was examined by Mr. Cleveland, the superintendent of the Cass Avenue Street Car Line. Several witnesses were examined, and he was found to be a man of good character, but the coroner said:

"The theory that Tevis killed himself while intoxicated is the gross."

which has been generally accepted since the Tevis affair on Sington street, when Frank Igelhart was shot by Rush Tevis, immediately after that gentleman had come out of a house of assignation. Tevis had a stroke of bad luck, however, in that he was to-day going again in full force, and the next morning he was given as the result of his fall, and he died on the way to the hospital.

Tevis had been at school, his examination was concluded, the next day, and he was examined by Mr. Cleveland, the superintendent of the Cass Avenue Street Car Line. Several witnesses were examined, and he was found to be a man of good character, but the coroner said:

"The theory that Tevis killed himself while intoxicated is the gross."

which has been generally accepted since the Tevis affair on Sington street, when Frank Igelhart was shot by Rush Tevis, immediately after that gentleman had come out of a house of assignation. Tevis had a stroke of bad luck, however, in that he was to-day going again in full force, and the next morning he was given as the result of his fall, and he died on the way to the hospital.

Tevis had been at school, his examination was concluded, the next day, and he was examined by Mr. Cleveland, the superintendent of the Cass Avenue Street Car Line. Several witnesses were examined, and he was found to be a man of good character, but the coroner said:

"The theory that Tevis killed himself while intoxicated is the gross."

which has been generally accepted since the Tevis affair on Sington street, when Frank Igelhart was shot by Rush Tevis, immediately after that gentleman had come out of a house of assignation. Tevis had a stroke of bad luck, however, in that he was to-day going again in full force, and the next morning he was given as the result of his fall, and he died on the way to the hospital.

Tevis had been at school, his examination was concluded, the next day, and he was examined by Mr. Cleveland, the superintendent of the Cass Avenue Street Car Line. Several witnesses were examined, and he was found to be a man of good character, but the coroner said:

"The theory that Tevis killed himself while intoxicated is the gross."

which has been generally accepted since the Tevis affair on Sington street, when Frank Igelhart was shot by Rush Tevis, immediately after that gentleman had come out of a house of assignation. Tevis had a stroke of bad luck, however, in that he was to-day going again in full force, and the next morning he was given as the result of his fall, and he died on the way to the hospital.

Tevis had been at school, his examination was concluded, the next day, and he was examined by Mr. Cleveland, the superintendent of the Cass Avenue Street Car Line. Several witnesses were examined, and he was found to be a man of good character, but the coroner said:

"The theory that Tevis killed himself while intoxicated is the gross."

which has been generally accepted since the Tevis affair on Sington street, when Frank Igelhart was shot by Rush Tevis, immediately after that gentleman had come out of a house of assignation. Tevis had a stroke of bad luck, however, in that he was to-day going again in full force, and the next morning he was given as the result of his fall, and he died on the way to the hospital.

Tevis had been at school, his examination was concluded, the next day, and he was examined by Mr. Cleveland, the superintendent of the Cass Avenue Street Car Line. Several witnesses were examined, and he was found to be a man of good character, but the coroner said:

"The theory that Tevis killed himself while intoxicated is the gross."

which has been generally accepted since the Tevis affair on Sington street, when Frank Igelhart was shot by Rush Tevis, immediately after that gentleman had come out of a house of assignation. Tevis had a stroke of bad luck, however, in that he was to-day going again in full force, and the next morning he was given as the result of his fall, and he died on the way to the hospital.

Tevis had been at school, his examination was concluded, the next day, and he was examined by Mr. Cleveland, the superintendent of the Cass Avenue Street Car Line. Several witnesses were examined, and he was found to be a man of good character, but the coroner said:

"The theory that Tevis killed himself while intoxicated is the gross."

which has been generally accepted since the Tevis affair on Sington street, when Frank Igelhart was shot by Rush Tevis, immediately after that gentleman had come out of a house of assignation. Tevis had a stroke of bad luck, however, in that he was to-day going again in full force, and the next morning he was given as the result of his fall, and he died on the way to the hospital.

Tevis had been at school, his examination was concluded, the next day, and he was examined by Mr. Cleveland, the superintendent of the Cass Avenue Street Car Line. Several witnesses were examined, and he was found to be a man of good character, but the coroner said:

"The theory that Tevis killed himself while intoxicated is the gross."

which has been generally accepted since the Tevis affair on Sington street, when Frank Igelhart was shot by Rush Tevis, immediately after that gentleman had come out of a house of assignation. Tevis had a stroke of bad luck, however, in that he was to-day going again in full force, and the next morning he was given as the result of his fall, and he died on the way to the hospital.

Tevis had been at school, his examination was concluded, the next day, and he was examined by Mr. Cleveland, the superintendent of the Cass Avenue Street Car Line. Several witnesses were examined, and he was found to be a man of good character, but the coroner said:

"The theory that Tevis killed himself while intoxicated is the gross."

which has been generally accepted since the Tevis affair on Sington street, when Frank Igelhart was shot by Rush Tevis, immediately after that gentleman had come out of a house of assignation. Tevis had a stroke of bad luck, however, in that he was to-day going again in full force, and the next morning he was given as the result of his fall, and he died on the way to the hospital.

Tevis had been at school, his examination was concluded, the next day, and he was examined by Mr. Cleveland, the superintendent of the Cass Avenue Street Car Line. Several witnesses were examined, and he was found to be a man of good character, but the coroner said:

"The theory that Tevis killed himself while intoxicated is the gross."

which has been generally accepted since the Tevis affair on Sington street, when Frank Igelhart was shot by Rush Tevis, immediately after that gentleman had come out of a house of assignation. Tevis had a stroke of bad luck, however, in that he was to-day going again in full force, and the next morning he was given as the result of his fall, and he died on the way to the hospital.

Tevis had been at school, his examination was concluded, the next day, and he was examined by Mr. Cleveland, the superintendent of the Cass Avenue Street Car Line. Several witnesses were examined, and he was found to be a man of good character, but the coroner said:

"The theory that Tevis killed himself while intoxicated is the gross."

which has been generally accepted since the Tevis affair on Sington street, when Frank Igelhart was shot by Rush Tevis, immediately after that gentleman had come out of a house of assignation. Tevis had a stroke of bad luck, however, in that he was to-day going again in full force, and the next morning he was given as the result of his fall, and he died on the way to the hospital.

Tevis had been at school, his examination was concluded, the next day, and he was examined by Mr. Cleveland, the superintendent of the Cass Avenue Street Car Line. Several witnesses were examined, and he was found to be a man of good character, but the coroner said:

"The theory that Tevis killed himself while intoxicated is the gross."

FOR RENT-DWELLINGS.

ELEGANT RESIDENCE
For Rent By the Year
HANDSOMELY FURNISHED.

Heated by furnaces. Eight miles from city at junction of West End Narrow Gauge and Wabash and Pacific Railroads. Constant train to West End and Union Depot. Personal possession given.

CHAR. H. TURNER & CO.,
114 36 Pine St.

WM. C. WILSON & CO.
REAL ESTATE AND FINANCIAL AGENTS

119 Chestnut Street,

Have for rent:

DWELLING. 2244 WASHINGTON AV.—A desirable new two-story, mansard roof dwelling of 10 rooms and all modern improvements and conveniences; just finished. $1,000.

141 S. Compton av., 7 rooms, hall, bath, laundry in excellent condition, $600.

320 Laclede av., 2-story brick dwelling, dormer house, hall, bath, laundry, etc., $500.

225 N. Main av., 2-story brick dwelling, hall, etc., in complete order, $250.

225 N. Main av., 2-story brick dwelling, hall, etc., laundry, etc., in good location, $250.

111 S. Second av., 2-story brick dwelling, hall, gas, laundry, etc., very desirable and cheap, $250.

218 Spruce st., 2 rooms, hall, bath, $100.

218 S. Main st., 2 rooms, hall, $100.

218 Spruce st., 2 rooms, hall, $100.

100 S. Compton av., 1st floor, good location for commissary, $100.

9 Morgan st., 3-story brick; $250.

222 S. Main st., 1st floor, and rear, $150.

218 Spruce st., 2 rooms, hall, $100.

FACTORY. 118 N. Second, two floors each 25x100 feet, well adapted for any manufacturing business. WM. C. WILSON & CO., 14 619 Chestnut st.

FURNISHED HOUSES TO LET.

30 NICHOLSON PLACE, by Lafayette Park—For let: cheap to good tenant. t15

SUBURBAN PROPERTY FOR RENT.

FOR RENT—A good 6-room house 3 blocks from school, J. A. Moody, real estate agent, Webster Grove, etc.

TO LET—FOR BUSINESS PURPOSES.

30 NICHOLSON PLACE, by Lafayette Park—For let: cheap to good tenant. t15

FOR RENT—Large roomy house suitable for any business or for manufacturing. 820 N. Market st., t15

FOR RENT—Store and two rooms, No. 721 Morgan st. Apply to J. D. Gibson, 509 Olive st. t17

OFFICES FOR RENT

102 N. Fourth st., 4th floor, rear, $25.

102 N. Fourth st., 4th floor, front, $25.

102 N. Fourth st., 4th floor, rear, $25.

F. W. GUERIN, Photographer,
Removed to the new and elegant establishment
Twelfth and Washington Av.
Special Agent to Crayon and Pastel work.
Medals awarded at the World's Exposition, Paris.

14 lbs Granulated Sugar, $1
ST. LOUIS TEA CO., 106 N. Fifth St.

SADDLE ROCK OYSTERS,
LITTLE NECK CLAMS.
Also Mussels, Fish and Game served to order at MILFORD'S, 114 N. Fifth Street.
Separate Dining-room for Ladies.

CUT RATES
TO ALL POINTS.
J. W. STOCKBRIDGE,
Railroad Ticket Broker,
605 Washington Avenue, Lindell Hotel.

MILK
(The Largest Delivery of Pure Illinois Milk in the city. Telephone No. 1,022.)
BOWMAN & CO.,
615 and 620 Morgan st.

CITY ITEMS.

J. L. MAYER & Co.'s New Nickel cigar is still on the boom. Gentle smoker, do you want a 10-cent vase filled cigar to try? J. L. Mayer & Co.'s New Nickel. All druggists and grocers have them on sale.

FURNITURE.

Was never cheaper. New designs more beautiful than ever at GUERNSEY FURNITURE CO.,
500 North Fourth street.

The justly famous "Anderson" and Belmont Sour mash whiskies and all other liquors in quantities to suit, at lowest prices, delivered free by James Lupte & Co., 284 and 285 Olive street.

Sax has the complexion of a peach. Posson's Medical Compunction Powder did it.

Dr. E. C. Chase,
285 Olive street. Set of teeth $5.

PRIVATE matters skillfully treated, and medicines furnished. Dr. Dinsmore, 614 Pine street.

PRIVATE matters skillfully treated and medicines furnished. Dr. Jacques, 705 Chestnut street.

Olo Dr. Whittier, a regular graduate, 617 St. Charles street, as for twenty-five years, may be found from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m., where remarkable cures may be had of blood diseases, impediments to marriage, etc., all diseases of indiscretion, excesses, indulgences. Safe medicines; consultation free. Marriage Guide, 256 pages, sent sealed to any address, 50 cents, or at office. Call or write.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

Reporters of Carlist activity are rife at Madrid. Mr. Kinney, one of the oldest Cincinnati bankers, died at Newport, Ky.

The Riverside Lumber Mills at Vincennes, Ind., burned. Loss $20,000.

Abbe Franssen has become blind at Bayreuth from drinking enormous quantities of liquor.

Russia is sending gunboats to Commander's Island to keep Englishmen from catching sea otter.

It is reported that the Indians on the New Mexico reservation near Fort Davis are in a starving condition.

The Anarchist sailors of the British steamer Elizabeth arrested at Ottensen, have been turned over to the German authorities.

German traders at Angra-Pequera, protest against the British claims to that territory. Germany will investigate her claims.

Chief H. H. Hovey, a Texan, who went from St. Louis to Yucatan, was arrested there for attempting to pass a bogus check.

There was an imposing demonstration of nationalists at Monaghan, Ireland, Friday, attended by Bishop Devane.

The French Chamber of Deputies passed a vote of confidence in the Government for compelling proper respect for the Tien Tsin treaty.

Jacob N. Zimmerman of Troy, Kas., a well-to-do farmer, and his Austrian Minister, Dr. Kalmoky, are perfecting arrangements to make common cause with England and France against Archduke Isabella.

A fire originating in Hinton & Cole's saw mill at Cincinnati destroyed $35,000 worth of property. Hinton & Cole lose $60,000 of this amount they having no insurance.

United States Commissioners Davenport's express of St. Louis, in a book of 120 pages, just out. The book says the letter was to go to Henry H. Hadley a lawyer of New York. Over 1,000 letters were used in tracing out the forgery.

The trial of the Mexican bandit, Lazaro, Texas, over the extradition of Gregorio Guina, a Mexican in jail there charged with a murder at Monterrey. They claim he is innocent. Brownsville, who exchanged him, has no authority in the case.

Capt. Waters of Manhattan, Kan., and his son Thurman, started out to hunt, when the father told the boy to shoot a neighbor's dog. The boy refused and the man, in a fit of rage, took him home, got a pistol and shot at the boy, who returned the fire, killing his father instantly.

Broadstreet's review for the week shows no general increase in consumption of liquors, but imports and exports are notable at St. Louis and points in Kansas and the Northwest. The harvest prospects are excellent with a better output in wheat. Corn is also in fair condition, with the market having advanced, the dry goods market has been fairly active, coal is firm while iron and petroleum are very strong. The market shows 264 failures as compared with 272 during the past year. Canada had seventeen, a decrease of eight.

Clear Spring Water
is not more pure than Parker's Hair Balsam. The only reliable hair restorer for 50 cents. An elegant dressing.

Notice.

In our advertisement on the first page of the Post-Dispatch yesterday, among other great bargains we announced "Five gross granulated sugar (all the rage) for 19 cents; sold elsewhere for 20 cents." It should have read, sold elsewhere for 20 cents.

LAWHORN BROTHERS.

"Liquid Bread," or Pure Malt Extract. Its superior merit becomes more and more apparent and appreciated as it passes into general use. It is the finished product, ripened by time, of the highest practically educated skill; extracted from the finest selected materials within the reach of purchase, and the unanimous verdict awarded it by medical men and the public has been and is "Excellent." Read the following brief, but forcible evidence of its worth from one of the highest medical authorities:

CERTIFICATE.

"Among the various preparations with malt as the basis, I do not know one which exceeds in beneficial effect David Nicholson's 'Pure Malt Extract,' and which has given equal satisfaction to my patients."

"Its nutritive action upon the sick may be readily demonstrated by their increasing weight under its use."

"The agreeable and palatable form of this preparation renders it particularly valuable to infant invalids and nursing women."

"LOUIS RAKER, M.D.,
"M.R.C.S., England,
"Professor of Surgery, Consulting Surgeon to the City Hospital, etc."

"St. Louis, July 1, 1884."

"The demand of enlightened people is always for the purest and best. Sold by grocers and druggists generally."

DAVID NICHOLSON,
Proprietor.

"Every face can stand the test of the sun's royal light, and no cosmetic can beautify them if Billowes has rendered them dark and sallow, but Portions of Parker's 'Female Cream' will do this. This all describes of a large size, White's Cream Vermicula the best ever killer."

White's Cream Vermicula the best ever killer.

BLAINE'S BROTHER.

He Was Indicted for Forgery in St. Louis.

Then He Gave Bail, But, With James G. Blaine's Connivance, Jumped His Bond.

And is Now a Fugitive From Missouri Justice.

Story of Neil G. Blaine's Criminal Escapade in This City—How He Cost the City $14.70 for 45 Days' Board in the City Jail—How He Managed to Get Out of the City.

There is a St. Louis chapter in the history of the Blaine family which takes a new and absorbing interest from the fact of the nomination of James G. Blaine for the Presidency by the Republican party. This story runs, in a word, that Neil Gilcrease Blaine, the eldest brother of the Presidential candidate, was indicted for forgery in St. Louis, that he escaped trial by forfeiting his bond and getting away from the city secretly in a hole of one of the lower river boats, that he is now in hiding in New Orleans, and is liable to be brought back here for trial, because, as he escaped this jurisdiction after indictment and before trial the statute of limitations does not run in his behalf.

Out in Elieaville, in the western part of the city of St. Louis, lives Mrs. Moore, an old lady, who, before she was married, was a Miss Blaine. Upon this old lady a Post-DISPATCH reporter called one evening early in the week. She is a native of Brownsville, Pennsylvania, in her youth an intimate friend of the Blaine family, and, although now far past her prime, her mind is as vigorous and her memory as clear as it ever was. The reason for the call was this: That the security on the bond which Neil Blaine had jumped, was P. J. McSherry, the brother of this lady.

"Yes," said she, in answer to the reporter's question, "I know the Blaine family well, very well indeed, and many persons who they all now except Neil, the eldest boy, and Jimmy." "Jimmy," everybody used to call him in the old time, he was such a sloven, Jim, up to the time he was 12 years old, used regularly to come to the catechism class which I taught in the church. You know his mother was a Catholic all her life, and his father died in the faith, too. They lived across the river from us, but up to the time that his mother died Jim was as regular in his attendance at church as anybody could wish."

"You spoke of Neil Blaine just now—wasn't he at one time in St. Louis?"

"Yes, and so was Jim."

"Did he get into trouble here?"

"Yes."

"A forgery, wasn't it?"

"Yes. He forged a note for $3,000 on a firm here and was arrested and put in jail, and Jim came to try and get him out of the trouble, and Neil and his brother got him to go on to the church. The fat, my brother, went up to Jefferson City and saw Governor Stewart about it, and there was an awful lot of worry and bother, but at last Neil got away and that was the last I ever heard of him for certain, although I was told two or three years ago that he was in Georgia in the Penitentiary there, but this may not be true. There is no doubt about the forgery, though; of that you may be certain."

NEIL BLAINE WAS THE BLACK SHEEP

of the family, he was always up to some meanness or other. He was up in North Missouri for a time pretending to be a Baptist preacher, and going under the name of Neil Wakefield. The rest of the family let go of him after they got him out of jail in St. Louis, and I suppose we went to the dogs, his own way." After a number of reminiscences of the Blaine family in the early days, very interesting for the light they throw upon the boyhood of the presidential candidate, that is all.

Neil Blaine was Governor of Missouri from 1858 to 1860, and the records of the Criminal Court for that period were searched by a reporter. The book says the letter was to go to Henry H. Hadley a lawyer of New York. Over 1,000 letters were used in tracing out the forgery.

The trial of the Mexican bandit, Lazaro, Texas, over the extradition of Gregorio Guina, a Mexican in jail there charged with a murder at Monterrey. They claim he is innocent. Brownsville, who exchanged him, has no authority in the case.

Capt. Waters of Manhattan, Kan., and his son Thurman, started out to hunt, when the father told the boy to shoot a neighbor's dog. The boy refused and the man, in a fit of rage, took him home, got a pistol and shot at the boy, who returned the fire, killing his father instantly.

Broadstreet's review for the week shows no general increase in consumption of liquors, but imports and exports are notable at St. Louis and points in Kansas and the Northwest. The harvest prospects are excellent with a better output in wheat. Corn is also in fair condition, with the market having advanced, the dry goods market has been fairly active, coal is firm while iron and petroleum are very strong. The market shows 264 failures as compared with 272 during the past year. Canada had seventeen, a decrease of eight.

Clear Spring Water

is not more pure than Parker's Hair Balsam. The only reliable hair restorer for 50 cents. An elegant dressing.

Notice.

In our advertisement on the first page of the Post-Dispatch yesterday, among other great bargains we announced "Five gross granulated sugar (all the rage) for 19 cents; sold elsewhere for 20 cents." It should have read, sold elsewhere for 20 cents.

LAWHORN BROTHERS.

"Liquid Bread," or Pure Malt Extract. Its superior merit becomes more and more apparent and appreciated as it passes into general use. It is the finished product, ripened by time, of the highest practically educated skill; extracted from the finest selected materials within the reach of purchase, and the unanimous verdict awarded it by medical men and the public has been and is "Excellent." Read the following brief, but forcible evidence of its worth from one of the highest medical authorities:

CERTIFICATE.

"Among the various preparations with malt as the basis, I do not know one which exceeds in beneficial effect David Nicholson's 'Pure Malt Extract,' and which has given equal satisfaction to my patients."

"Its nutritive action upon the sick may be readily demonstrated by their increasing weight under its use."

"The agreeable and palatable form of this preparation renders it particularly valuable to infant invalids and nursing women."

"LOUIS RAKER, M.D.,
"M.R.C.S., England,
"Professor of Surgery, Consulting Surgeon to the City Hospital, etc."

"St. Louis, July 1, 1884."

"The demand of enlightened people is always for the purest and best. Sold by grocers and druggists generally."

DAVID NICHOLSON,
Proprietor.

"Every face can stand the test of the sun's royal light, and no cosmetic can beautify them if Billowes has rendered them dark and sallow, but Portions of Parker's 'Female Cream' will do this. This all describes of a large size, White's Cream Vermicula the best ever killer."

White's Cream Vermicula the best ever killer.

THE INDICTMENT.

No. 35, September Term, 1860.

STATE vs.
NEIL G. BLAINE.

FORGERY.

Witnesses: Robert Officer, Seth M. Tinsley. A true bill. R. J. Howard, Foreman. Filed, Sept. 19, 1860.

The document runs as follows:

STATE OF MISSOURI, vs. NEIL G. BLAINE.

September Term, 1860.

The Grand Jury of the State of Missouri within and for the body of the County of St. Louis, now here in Court duly impaneled, sworn, and charged, upon their oath present, that Neil G. Blaine, late of St. Louis, in St. Louis, county, on the Twenty-seventh day of August in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifty-nine, at St. Louis, in St. Louis, county, of the Commonwealth of Missouri, was then and there having in his custody and possession a certain negotiable promissory note, which was for the sum of $3,000, payable to the order of S. M. Tinsley, and dated the 10th of November, 1859,

at St. Louis, in St. Louis, county, Missouri,

and that he forged the same, which made the note negotiable, and attempted to dispose of it, unlawfully, however, as the forged note was not a skilful one, and young Blaine was at once arrested by the police and brought before Recorder Thos. F. Bailey on September 3, 1860, and by that gentleman committed to jail. He remained in jail until McSherry, at the earnest solicitation of himself and his brother, James G. Blaine, who came on from the East, as soon as he could get here, went on his bond and had him released. McSherry was so secured by James G. Blaine that there was nothing to prevent the escape of the fugitive. As far as can be ascertained at that late date there was no intention on James G. Blaine's

THE GRAPE CURE.

FAMILIES, HOUSEHOLD, TRAVELER.

THE GRAPE CURE.

A Crystallized Salt, extracted from GRAPES and FRUIT, forms

A DELIGHTFUL

MEDICINAL BEVERAGE

ENGLISH BEAUTIES.

Portraits of Well-Known British Society Leaders.

Faces to be Seen at Court Receptions.

Miss Chamberlain, the Famous American Beauty.

Yankee Girls Abroad in Search of Titled Husbands.

The galaxy of beauty presented by the Post-D is patch-to-day includes all the ladies who are acknowledged as the handsomest women in England. Several of them are American girls who made what are called eligible matches while abroad, entering the sacred circles of nobility, where only those the bluest of blood are supposed to be admissible. Others are still single, having made countless conquests, but preferring the non-restraint of single blessedness yet a while. The artist has caught the happiest expressions in most cases.

MISS JENNIE CHAMBERLAIN. Miss Jennie Chamberlain, who has been a prominent figure in London society the past three years, from her friendship with the Prince of Wales, is an American girl and a native of Cleveland, Ohio. She is about twenty-four years old, of medium height, and rather petite in figure. Her eyes and hair are dark, and she is possessed of remarkable beauty, fair complexion. She first came prominently into notice at Newport five summers ago, when her beauty and reported wealth directed public attention toward her. Her mother was a Miss Wilson of Cleveland. Her father, Selah Chamberlain, acquired a large and sudden fortune by the payment, two years ago, of certain Minnesota State bonds issued in aid of railroads he had built and that had been repudiated by many successive Legislatures. Much of this money was invested in Cleveland real estate, which has risen tremendously in value. Miss Chamberlain has resided abroad with her parents for five years past. The Prince of Wales was attracted to her first by her beauty in London society, and has been devoted to her ever since, save for a short time about a year ago when he transferred his affections to Miss Winslow, also an American girl. Miss Chamberlain was known as the "Vice-Chamberlain," but it is now reported that England's prospective king is again devoted to her. She has very winning manners and is very bright in conversation. Her pet name for the Prince is "Jumbo."

MISS KATE FORTESCUE. Miss Kate Fortescue is not quite twenty years old, and is said to resemble Lillian Russell, both in manner and appearance. Her hair and complexion are lighter. She had been playing some parts at the Alhambra, about a year ago, when her engagement to Viscount Garmoyle and the subsequent breach-of-promise suit gave her notoriety. The Alhambra, like our own Casino, is a resort particularly affected by the dukes and masters. These youths, among whom Lord Garmoyle was prominent, looked up to Oscar Wilde as to a tutelary deity. When Oscar had gathered his harvest of American dollars and was ready to marry he introduced his old flame, "Kitty" Fortescue, to the young lordling. Kitty is said to be quite "up to snuff," and when it became evident that the degenere heir of Dizy's great Lord Chancellor was hardly smitten she became coy of all other admirers. Garmoyle completely lost his cigarette-sofened head, and lavished flowers, jewels, petits souliers, dresses and一切 on his inamorato. Still she stood firmly by her Alhambra career, and driven to desperation the young Lord made her an offer of marriage and was accepted. To the horror of the young man's family the engagement was proclaimed from the house-tops. Kitty retired from the stage, and thereafter the loving couple were to be frequently seen driving in Hyde Park or occupying a box at the play. Their appearance was usually the signal for irreverent cries of "See the master! Hello, Lord and Lady Gumboll!" The Viscount, to overcome the opposition of his family, induced his mother to invite his fiancee to the Earl's country seat at Bournemouth, confident that the beauty and grace that had captured his own heart would soften the parental one. Alas! rebelling against the Presbyterian strictness of the Caron household, it is said, the fair Kitty, having ingratiated herself with the Earl's mother, talked him into a match, secured the heiress' consent of marriage, mimicking England's ex-Lord Chancellor at his own dinner-table. "Gumboll" was compelled to break off the match, though his heart broke with it. The family solicitor offered Kitty a financial balm for her wounded heart, which the wronged maiden indignantly rejected. It was not enough. Suit for breach of promise was quickly begun. She returned to the Alhambra at a salary of £15 a week—£10 more than she had ever received before and the Fortescue-Garmoyle case being the talk of London and Paris after leaving school. She met her afflity about two years ago in the person of Sir Charles Michael Wolsey, a Staffordshire Baronet, not yet 40, and possessing a fine ancestral estate in his native county. Lord Wolsey, the hero of Ashante and Tei-el-Kehr, is a scion of a younger branch of the same family.

sought after during the several seasons she spent in London and Paris after leaving school. She met her afflity about two years ago in the person of Sir Charles Michael Wolsey, a Staffordshire Baronet, not yet 40, and possessing a fine ancestral estate in his native county. Lord Wolsey, the hero of Ashante and Tei-el-Kehr, is a scion of a younger branch of the same family.

the case behind closed doors. It is said that she latey refused a very handsome offer to sing in New York in opera-bouffe during the coming season. The reason for her refusal is suggested by the fact that she has lately been reconciled and remarried to her husband, and as she wrote to a friend here, she cannot bear to break up her delightfully happy little home in St. John's Wood, the home of artistic Londoners.

came to the rescue and procured a secret hearing of the case behind closed doors. It is said that the hearing, as lately announced by cable, was a decree in favor of Lady Colin Campbell.

compass. Some years ago she was married to Mr. Claude Marus, a popular Franco-English comedian, from whom she was subsequently divorced. Her figure is slight but well formed. Her clear, pale complexion and large dark eyes are tinged with an habitual expression of melancholy. It is said that she latey refused a very handsome offer to sing in New York in opera-bouffe during the coming season. The reason for her refusal is suggested by the fact that she has lately been reconciled and remarried to her husband, and as she wrote to a friend here, she cannot bear to break up her delightfully happy little home in St. John's Wood, the home of artistic Londoners.

came to the rescue and procured a secret hearing of the case behind closed doors. It is said that the hearing, as lately announced by cable, was a decree in favor of Lady Colin Campbell.

compass. Some years ago she was married to Mr. Claude Marus, a popular Franco-English comedian, from whom she was subsequently divorced. Her figure is slight but well formed. Her clear, pale complexion and large dark eyes are tinged with an habitual expression of melancholy. It is said that she latey refused a very handsome offer to sing in New York in opera-bouffe during the coming season. The reason for her refusal is suggested by the fact that she has lately been reconciled and remarried to her husband, and as she wrote to a friend here, she cannot bear to break up her delightfully happy little home in St. John's Wood, the home of artistic Londoners.

compass. Some years ago she was married to Mr. Claude Marus, a popular Franco-English comedian, from whom she was subsequently divorced. Her figure is slight but well formed. Her clear, pale complexion and large dark eyes are tinged with an habitual expression of melancholy. It is said that she latey refused a very handsome offer to sing in New York in opera-bouffe during the coming season. The reason for her refusal is suggested by the fact that she has lately been reconciled and remarried to her husband, and as she wrote to a friend here, she cannot bear to break up her delightfully happy little home in St. John's Wood, the home of artistic Londoners.

compass. Some years ago she was married to Mr. Claude Marus, a popular Franco-English comedian, from whom she was subsequently divorced. Her figure is slight but well formed. Her clear, pale complexion and large dark eyes are tinged with an habitual expression of melancholy. It is said that she latey refused a very handsome offer to sing in New York in opera-bouffe during the coming season. The reason for her refusal is suggested by the fact that she has lately been reconciled and remarried to her husband, and as she wrote to a friend here, she cannot bear to break up her delightfully happy little home in St. John's Wood, the home of artistic Londoners.

compass. Some years ago she was married to Mr. Claude Marus, a popular Franco-English comedian, from whom she was subsequently divorced. Her figure is slight but well formed. Her clear, pale complexion and large dark eyes are tinged with an habitual expression of melancholy. It is said that she latey refused a very handsome offer to sing in New York in opera-bouffe during the coming season. The reason for her refusal is suggested by the fact that she has lately been reconciled and remarried to her husband, and as she wrote to a friend here, she cannot bear to break up her delightfully happy little home in St. John's Wood, the home of artistic Londoners.

compass. Some years ago she was married to Mr. Claude Marus, a popular Franco-English comedian, from whom she was subsequently divorced. Her figure is slight but well formed. Her clear, pale complexion and large dark eyes are tinged with an habitual expression of melancholy. It is said that she latey refused a very handsome offer to sing in New York in opera-bouffe during the coming season. The reason for her refusal is suggested by the fact that she has lately been reconciled and remarried to her husband, and as she wrote to a friend here, she cannot bear to break up her delightfully happy little home in St. John's Wood, the home of artistic Londoners.

compass. Some years ago she was married to Mr. Claude Marus, a popular Franco-English comedian, from whom she was subsequently divorced. Her figure is slight but well formed. Her clear, pale complexion and large dark eyes are tinged with an habitual expression of melancholy. It is said that she latey refused a very handsome offer to sing in New York in opera-bouffe during the coming season. The reason for her refusal is suggested by the fact that she has lately been reconciled and remarried to her husband, and as she wrote to a friend here, she cannot bear to break up her delightfully happy little home in St. John's Wood, the home of artistic Londoners.

compass. Some years ago she was married to Mr. Claude Marus, a popular Franco-English comedian, from whom she was subsequently divorced. Her figure is slight but well formed. Her clear, pale complexion and large dark eyes are tinged with an habitual expression of melancholy. It is said that she latey refused a very handsome offer to sing in New York in opera-bouffe during the coming season. The reason for her refusal is suggested by the fact that she has lately been reconciled and remarried to her husband, and as she wrote to a friend here, she cannot bear to break up her delightfully happy little home in St. John's Wood, the home of artistic Londoners.

compass. Some years ago she was married to Mr. Claude Marus, a popular Franco-English comedian, from whom she was subsequently divorced. Her figure is slight but well formed. Her clear, pale complexion and large dark eyes are tinged with an habitual expression of melancholy. It is said that she latey refused a very handsome offer to sing in New York in opera-bouffe during the coming season. The reason for her refusal is suggested by the fact that she has lately been reconciled and remarried to her husband, and as she wrote to a friend here, she cannot bear to break up her delightfully happy little home in St. John's Wood, the home of artistic Londoners.

compass. Some years ago she was married to Mr. Claude Marus, a popular Franco-English comedian, from whom she was subsequently divorced. Her figure is slight but well formed. Her clear, pale complexion and large dark eyes are tinged with an habitual expression of melancholy. It is said that she latey refused a very handsome offer to sing in New York in opera-bouffe during the coming season. The reason for her refusal is suggested by the fact that she has lately been reconciled and remarried to her husband, and as she wrote to a friend here, she cannot bear to break up her delightfully happy little home in St. John's Wood, the home of artistic Londoners.

compass. Some years ago she was married to Mr. Claude Marus, a popular Franco-English comedian, from whom she was subsequently divorced. Her figure is slight but well formed. Her clear, pale complexion and large dark eyes are tinged with an habitual expression of melancholy. It is said that she latey refused a very handsome offer to sing in New York in opera-bouffe during the coming season. The reason for her refusal is suggested by the fact that she has lately been reconciled and remarried to her husband, and as she wrote to a friend here, she cannot bear to break up her delightfully happy little home in St. John's Wood, the home of artistic Londoners.

compass. Some years ago she was married to Mr. Claude Marus, a popular Franco-English comedian, from whom she was subsequently divorced. Her figure is slight but well formed. Her clear, pale complexion and large dark eyes are tinged with an habitual expression of melancholy. It is said that she latey refused a very handsome offer to sing in New York in opera-bouffe during the coming season. The reason for her refusal is suggested by the fact that she has lately been reconciled and remarried to her husband, and as she wrote to a friend here, she cannot bear to break up her delightfully happy little home in St. John's Wood, the home of artistic Londoners.

compass. Some years ago she was married to Mr. Claude Marus, a popular Franco-English comedian, from whom she was subsequently divorced. Her figure is slight but well formed. Her clear, pale complexion and large dark eyes are tinged with an habitual expression of melancholy. It is said that she latey refused a very handsome offer to sing in New York in opera-bouffe during the coming season. The reason for her refusal is suggested by the fact that she has lately been reconciled and remarried to her husband, and as she wrote to a friend here, she cannot bear to break up her delightfully happy little home in St. John's Wood, the home of artistic Londoners.

compass. Some years ago she was married to Mr. Claude Marus, a popular Franco-English comedian, from whom she was subsequently divorced. Her figure is slight but well formed. Her clear, pale complexion and large dark eyes are tinged with an habitual expression of melancholy. It is said that she latey refused a very handsome offer to sing in New York in opera-bouffe during the coming season. The reason for her refusal is suggested by the fact that she has lately been reconciled and remarried to her husband, and as she wrote to a friend here, she cannot bear to break up her delightfully happy little home in St. John's Wood, the home of artistic Londoners.

compass. Some years ago she was married to Mr. Claude Marus, a popular Franco-English comedian, from whom she was subsequently divorced. Her figure is slight but well formed. Her clear, pale complexion and large dark eyes are tinged with an habitual expression of melancholy. It is said that she latey refused a very handsome offer to sing in New York in opera-bouffe during the coming season. The reason for her refusal is suggested by the fact that she has lately been reconciled and remarried to her husband, and as she wrote to a friend here, she cannot bear to break up her delightfully happy little home in St. John's Wood, the home of artistic Londoners.

compass. Some years ago she was married to Mr. Claude Marus, a popular Franco-English comedian, from whom she was subsequently divorced. Her figure is slight but well formed. Her clear, pale complexion and large dark eyes are tinged with an habitual expression of melancholy. It is said that she latey refused a very handsome offer to sing in New York in opera-bouffe during the coming season. The reason for her refusal is suggested by the fact that she has lately been reconciled and remarried to her husband, and as she wrote to a friend here, she cannot bear to break up her delightfully happy little home in St. John's Wood, the home of artistic Londoners.

compass. Some years ago she was married to Mr. Claude Marus, a popular Franco-English comedian, from whom she was subsequently divorced. Her figure is slight but well formed. Her clear, pale complexion and large dark eyes are tinged with an habitual expression of melancholy. It is said that she latey refused a very handsome offer to sing in New York in opera-bouffe during the coming season. The reason for her refusal is suggested by the fact that she has lately been reconciled and remarried to her husband, and as she wrote to a friend here, she cannot bear to break up her delightfully happy little home in St. John's Wood, the home of artistic Londoners.

compass. Some years ago she was married to Mr. Claude Marus, a popular Franco-English comedian, from whom she was subsequently divorced. Her figure is slight but well formed. Her clear, pale complexion and large dark eyes are tinged with an habitual expression of melancholy. It is said that she latey refused a very handsome offer to sing in New York in opera-bouffe during the coming season. The reason for her refusal is suggested by the fact that she has lately been reconciled and remarried to her husband, and as she wrote to a friend here, she cannot bear to break up her delightfully happy little home in St. John's Wood, the home of artistic Londoners.

compass. Some years ago she was married to Mr. Claude Marus, a popular Franco-English comedian, from whom she was subsequently divorced. Her figure is slight but well formed. Her clear, pale complexion and large dark eyes are tinged with an habitual expression of melancholy. It is said that she latey refused a very handsome offer to sing in New York in opera-bouffe during the coming season. The reason for her refusal is suggested by the fact that she has lately been reconciled and remarried to her husband, and as she wrote to a friend here, she cannot bear to break up her delightfully happy little home in St. John's Wood, the home of artistic Londoners.

compass. Some years ago she was married to Mr. Claude Marus, a popular Franco-English comedian, from whom she was subsequently divorced. Her figure is slight but well formed. Her clear, pale complexion and large dark eyes are tinged with an habitual expression of melancholy. It is said that she latey refused a very handsome offer to sing in New York in opera-bouffe during the coming season. The reason for her refusal is suggested by the fact that she has lately been reconciled and remarried to her husband, and as she wrote to a friend here, she cannot bear to break up her delightfully happy little home in St. John's Wood, the home of artistic Londoners.

compass. Some years ago she was married to Mr. Claude Marus, a popular Franco-English comedian, from whom she was subsequently divorced. Her figure is slight but well formed. Her clear, pale complexion and large dark eyes are tinged with an habitual expression of melancholy. It is said that she latey refused a very handsome offer to sing in New York in opera-bouffe during the coming season. The reason for her refusal is suggested by the fact that she has lately been reconciled and remarried to her husband, and as she wrote to a friend here, she cannot bear to break up her delightfully happy little home in St. John's Wood, the home of artistic Londoners.

compass. Some years ago she was married to Mr. Claude Marus, a popular Franco-English comedian, from whom she was subsequently divorced. Her figure is slight but well formed. Her clear, pale complexion and large dark eyes are tinged with an habitual expression of melancholy. It is said that she latey refused a very handsome offer to sing in New York in opera-bouffe during the coming season. The reason for her refusal is suggested by the fact that she has lately been reconciled and remarried to her husband, and as she wrote to a friend here, she cannot bear to break up her delightfully happy little home in St. John's Wood, the home of artistic Londoners.

compass. Some years ago she was married to Mr. Claude Marus, a popular Franco-English comedian, from whom she was subsequently divorced. Her figure is slight but well formed. Her clear, pale complexion and large dark eyes are tinged with an habitual expression of melancholy. It is said that she latey refused a very handsome offer to sing in New York in opera-bouffe during the coming season. The reason for her refusal is suggested by the fact that she has lately been reconciled and remarried to her husband, and as she wrote to a friend here, she cannot bear to break up her delightfully happy little home in St. John's Wood, the home of artistic Londoners.

compass. Some years ago she was married to Mr. Claude Marus, a popular Franco-English comedian, from whom she was subsequently divorced. Her figure is slight but well formed. Her clear, pale complexion and large dark eyes are tinged with an habitual expression of melancholy. It is said that she latey refused a very handsome offer to sing in New York in opera-bouffe during the coming season. The reason for her refusal is suggested by the fact that she has lately been reconciled and remarried to her husband, and as she wrote to a friend here, she cannot bear to break up her delightfully happy little home in St. John's Wood, the home of artistic Londoners.

compass. Some years ago she was married to Mr. Claude Marus, a popular Franco-English comedian, from whom she was subsequently divorced. Her figure is slight but well formed. Her clear, pale complexion and large dark eyes are tinged with an habitual expression of melancholy. It is said that she latey refused a very handsome offer to sing in New York in opera-bouffe during the coming season. The reason for her refusal is suggested by the fact that she has lately been reconciled and remarried to her husband, and as she wrote to a friend here, she cannot bear to break up her delightfully happy little home in St. John's Wood, the home of artistic Londoners.

compass. Some years ago she was married to Mr. Claude Marus, a popular Franco-English comedian, from whom she was subsequently divorced. Her figure is slight but well formed. Her clear, pale complexion and large dark eyes are tinged with an habitual expression of melancholy. It is said that she latey refused a very handsome offer to sing in New York in opera-bouffe during the coming season. The reason for her refusal is suggested by the fact that she has lately been reconciled and remarried to her husband, and as she wrote to a friend here, she cannot bear to break up her delightfully happy little home in St. John's Wood, the home of artistic Londoners.

compass. Some years ago she was married to Mr. Claude Marus, a popular Franco-English comedian, from whom she was subsequently divorced. Her figure is slight but well formed. Her clear, pale complexion and large dark eyes are tinged with an habitual expression of melancholy. It is said that she latey refused a very handsome offer to sing in New York in opera-bouffe during the coming season. The reason for her refusal is suggested by the fact that she has lately been reconciled and remarried to her husband, and as she wrote to a friend here, she cannot bear to break up her delightfully happy little home in St. John's Wood, the home of artistic Londoners.

compass. Some years ago she was married to Mr. Claude Marus, a popular Franco-English comedian, from whom she was subsequently divorced. Her figure is slight but well formed. Her clear, pale complexion and large dark eyes are tinged with an habitual expression of melancholy. It is said that she latey refused a very handsome offer to sing in New York in opera-bouffe during the coming season. The reason for her refusal is suggested by the fact that she has lately been reconciled and remarried to her husband, and as she wrote to a friend here, she cannot bear to break up her delightfully happy little home in St. John's Wood, the home of artistic Londoners.

compass. Some years ago she was married to Mr. Claude Marus, a popular Franco-English comedian, from whom she was subsequently divorced. Her figure is slight but well formed. Her clear, pale complexion and large dark eyes are tinged with an habitual expression of melancholy. It is said that she latey refused a very handsome offer to sing in New York in opera-bouffe during the coming season. The reason for her refusal is suggested by the fact that she has lately been reconciled and remarried to her husband, and as she wrote to a friend here, she cannot bear to break up her delightfully happy little home in St. John's Wood, the home of artistic Londoners.

compass. Some years ago she was married to Mr. Claude Marus, a popular Franco-English comedian, from whom she was subsequently divorced. Her figure is slight but well formed. Her clear, pale complexion and large dark eyes are tinged with an habitual expression of melancholy. It is said that she latey refused a very handsome offer to sing in New York in opera-bouffe during the coming season. The reason for her refusal is suggested by the fact that she has lately been reconciled and remarried to her husband, and as she wrote to a friend here, she cannot bear to break up her delightfully happy little home in St. John's Wood, the home of artistic Londoners.

compass. Some years ago she was married to Mr. Claude Marus, a popular Franco-English comedian, from whom she was subsequently divorced. Her figure is slight but well formed. Her clear, pale complexion and large dark eyes are tinged with an habitual expression of melancholy. It is said that she latey refused a very handsome offer to sing in New York in opera-bouffe during the coming season. The reason for her refusal is suggested by the fact that she has lately been reconciled and remarried to her husband, and as she wrote to a friend here, she cannot bear to break up her delightfully happy little home in St. John's Wood, the home of artistic Londoners.

compass. Some years ago she was married to Mr. Claude Marus, a popular Franco-English comedian, from whom she was subsequently divorced. Her figure is slight but well formed. Her clear, pale complexion and large dark eyes are tinged with an habitual expression of melancholy. It is said that she latey refused a very handsome offer to sing in New York in opera-bouffe during the coming season. The reason for her refusal is suggested by the fact that she has lately been reconciled and remarried to her husband, and as she wrote to a friend here, she cannot bear to break up her delightfully happy little home in St. John's Wood, the home of artistic Londoners.

compass. Some years ago she was married to Mr. Claude Marus, a popular Franco-English comedian, from whom she was subsequently divorced. Her figure is slight but well formed. Her clear, pale complexion and large dark eyes are tinged with an habitual expression of melancholy. It is said that she latey refused a very handsome offer to sing in New York in opera-bouffe during the coming season. The reason for her refusal is suggested by the fact that she has lately been reconciled and remarried to her husband, and as she wrote to a friend here, she cannot bear to break up her delightfully happy little home in St. John's Wood, the home of artistic Londoners.

compass.

A COMPLETE FAILURE.

The Republican Attempt to Capture the Labor Vote.

A Canvass Among the Knights of Labor in New York State—Activity Around the Democratic Headquarters—The Reform Candidates Gaining Ground.

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch.
New York, August 16.—The headquarters of the Democratic State Committee at the Hoffman House are crowded daily. The executive committee is busy, and the clerical force is sending out documents by the thousand. There is an increasing demand for Carl Schurz' Brooklyn speech. Every mail brings encouraging news from the rural districts. Chairman William E. Smith says the reports show that the disaffection among the rural Democracy is greatly over-estimated, and the Independents and Republicans who will vote for Cleveland are largely under-estimated.

The rooms of THE REPUBLICAN HEADQUARTERS.

No. 22 Fifth Avenue, located elsewhere yesterday. All the members of the executive committee were absent, and the clerk had nothing to do but to look wise. It is known that the committee has not raised as much money for campaign purposes as it did for the election of Grant, and the members are anxious to know what will be done.

Collector Robertson held a long conference with Steve Elkins in the morning, and told him what was to be done. Elkins raised the question of whether the question was settled over. There was nothing going on at the Republican headquarters at the Oliver House. The Independents, the Anti-Slavery and Brooklyn, who have revolted against Blaine and Logan, are very active.

Mr. Charli Schurz, Mr. Edward E. Denning are constantly at the headquarters, No. 23 Nassau street. The Conference Committee had daily sessions and the list of Republicans and Independent supporters is increasing by the hundreds.

There is a great demand for Carl Schurz's speech at the meeting of the Knights of Labor in New York received from points outside of New York State.

Show that Cleveland is growing steadily in favor with the people is not the main point.

A large number of prominent merchants and business men, who are not actively identified with either party, are making arrangements for a great mass meeting in the interest of Cleveland and Hendricks.

It will be purely a business man's meeting, and must have been all right in sixty days, but it won't do now, for the cradle's rockin' in peace an' the blue-eyed gal with the peachy lips is singin' a sweet song in the orchestra.

"My dear sir," said the colonel, "it is possible that you do not understand this document, a copy of which our forefathers set their seal upon."

"Well, now, the war's over out here in this section, an' we don't want none o' that secesh business. I fia for the South, an' I snuffed a good deal o' smoke an' stopped several pints o' beer, but I'm changin' my old ways. Now, mister, I don't think that you air doin' right to come out here an' read that thing to the young folks. Lee's dead an' Grant's busted up, so tell me, so I can understand all in this business better. I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"My dear sir," said the colonel, "is it possible that you do not understand this document, a copy of which our forefathers set their seal upon?"

"Well, now, the war's over out here in this section, an' we don't want none o' that secesh business. I fia for the South, an' I snuffed a good deal o' smoke an' stopped several pints o' beer, but I'm changin' my old ways. Now, mister, I don't think that you air doin' right to come out here an' read that thing to the young folks. Lee's dead an' Grant's busted up, so tell me, so I can understand all in this business better. I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"Nessin' so much of your education, mister, for I know that you'll need it before you git to the end o' your row. I never took no col-lege, an' I know the book o' law can't hurt ya. I've got years like a fox, an' a eye that can tell a black snake from a scorpion. That thing you've got there is rank pizen. Ain't it?" Leaning forward, "turning to the boy boys, "That's what I call it." Leaning back again.

"Your ladyship, mister, mout have been all right in sixty days, but it won't do now, for the cradle's rockin' in peace an' the blue-eyed gal with the peachy lips is singin' a sweet song in the orchestra.

"My dear friend," said the colonel, "let me explain. Gentlemen, please keep quiet. There is no need for excitement. When our forefathers were oppressed by the British Government, they threw off the yoke, and declared by a unanimous vote that they were independent; that they were free. They fought, bled, and maintained this avowal of freedom; and this glorious document will ever live as the greatest national structure the world has ever known."

"That's all right, mister," said the man from Dry Fork, "an' is talkin' off a heap putter than I could do, but the war is over. I don't see no blood round here. Do you Leviticus?"

"I ain't never seen it. I'll just rip it up."

"I swear I will not; I'd like to see the play. Is not Hell Fire & Purify?"

"So, so. I wish you would tell me that gentleman on the left is. I am sure that he knows you, and he is strikingly handsome."

"At present that stage interests me. Beside, I am a widow, and I am not interested in this business."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"Not any; I exhausted it some time ago."

"Her ladyship was not telling the truth. She was intensely curious, but she pleased her at the same time. I am sure that she has a strange sympathy that makes us intensely conscious of a familiar glance, even in a crowded building, had solicited her regard just as Selina had advised her of it. If she had not been asked to sit down, I would have avoided any conversation with her.

"Your ladyship has no curiosity."

"Not any; I exhausted it some time ago."

"I am a widow, and I am not interested in this business."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I shall not put up this glorious paper."

"I am a widow, and I am not interested in this business."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let me tell you."

"I am as good Southern man as anybody, but I never was no gluton. I've got enough, let

